

Consists of a two-piece metal block which clamps onto outer conductors of two coaxial cables and encloses a shorting link which joins the centre conductors of the two cables. A rubber cap is fastened to the base to provide insulation and a water-proof seal.

Initial use: for splicing CA-N-63 coaxial cable.

